Foreword

I started researching my family history in late 1992 when I picked up a genealogy application at a software store called Egghead. Egghead was a “brick and mortar” store dedicated to computer software in the early 90s and they were running a buy-one-get-one (BOGO) sale. On software.

The software was basically a fill-in-the-blank process and once I got started, I couldn’t stop. I decided my research goal would be to find my immigrant ancestors and where they came from. I’ve partially succeeded but women are really hard to research before the 20th century because they didn’t have a separate legal identity from their father or husband.

Early in my research my mother, Berneda Spencer Daly (1926-2021), handed me one of Tom McIntosh’s Descendants of Henry Clay Spencer and Amanda Jane Dunn of Bradford County, Pennsylvania booklets from the reunions. It helped guide part of my research but I retraced every step, looking for records to prove the history. My ancestry, however, is a little different than Tom’s so I had other areas to research also.

This book covers much of the same people Tom McIntosh described though there are a few changes due to more records being available online (and easier to find!). I also found a mistake, which is one reason why it’s important to share; that is, so other people might find what I missed.

I organized the chapters of this book by where they lived and the government under which they lived. Our ancestors, therefore, are grouped as follows:

- The English Spencers
- The Colonial Spencers
- The American Spencers

Our direct Spencer ancestors are listed within each chapter with a “Lineage” list of their direct paternal line. I find that list helps keep track of where each person fits into history.

There is also a separate chapter for Henry’s and Amanda’s children and grandchildren. I struggled with adding more recent generations but decided against it for this version. Maybe a detailed list of descendants could be another chapter. Let me know what you think.

Like Tom’s booklets, I didn’t want to clutter the pages with footnotes and endnotes. There are a few but I can provide source citations to anyone who wants to learn more about the records that helped write this story.

Genealogy is about sharing information so someone else can fact-check the genealogist. With that in mind, feel free to double-check my work and let me know if you have questions or see any issues. It’s so easy to make a mistake while writing a big story like this. You won’t hurt my feelings.

I also manage a private group on Facebook.com where we share updates, photos, and post reminders about births, marriages, and deaths of our ancestors. The group is called “Descendants of Henry Clay Spencer and Amanda Jane Dunn” if you want to join.

Thank you for taking the time to read this story.

Corrections & Updates

Send any corrections or updates to me at the address above. Email is probably best but whatever works.

This book is a work in progress while I continue researching. I know more about some families than others either because they left a nice paper trail to follow or I've talked to and received updates from some of you. If you see information that we can add, let me know!

Photos

If you have photos of your Spencer ancestors that you would like included in a future version of this book, please send them to me in digital format. TIF or PNG files are best but JPG will work too.

I use Google Photoscan, a mobile phone app, to take pictures that are in frames, etc. Be sure to clean the glass first and check the lighting but you can get really good photos from it. I find it also works on large photos.

Woman's Names

As a genealogist, I only record a woman's birth (maiden) name.

Whether she changed her name upon marriage, changed it back, kept one or the other name is not really that critical to genealogy.

It is, generally, assumed she might be known by any of these names at some point no matter what she wanted.

So, in this book, I only record a woman's birth name. When she marries you can assume whether she changed her name or not.

Introduction

This 'word cloud' contains the surnames for every direct descendant of John Spencer (1505-1558) and Anne Merrill (1509-1560) that I've been able to identify, so far. The size of the name is based on the number of descendants in my research database on Ancestry.com.

Pedigree Charts

These pedigree charts were taken from Ancestry.com. Ignore the green leaves; they tell me there are record or image hints I need to investigate. Hopefully, you can use them to find your way through the generations.

I generally work on Ancestry.com but I use sources from many other online and offline repositories too. It's interesting to realize that only a small portion of records are online.

The Michael Spencer born in 1611 is our immigrant Spencer ancestor. He was certainly what, today, we would call a “puritan” but he wouldn’t use that word.

He was not one of the more radical “pilgrims” that went to Leiden, Netherlands and arrived in 1620 aboard the Mayflower. Michael and his brothers – William, Jared/Gerard, and Thomas – and sister Elizabeth were part of the Great Puritan Migration during the 1630s.

They came to Massachusetts Bay Colony and, eventually, absorbed the radical “pilgrims” by their numbers.

Our ancestors in England lived in or near the village of Edworth in Bedfordshire (sometimes abbreviated as “Beds”). They later moved to the larger town of Stotfold, still in Bedfordshire.

Bedfordshire is located north of London and was fairly rural when our ancestors lived there. Edworth is a small collection of homes these days while Stotfold is a thriving town still.

Ancestor Table

The 'ancestor table' below provides a quick list of our known ancestors. The list always starts with #1 as the subject person; in this case, Henry Clay Spencer.

After the first person, any person's father is that person's number times 2 and that person's mother is the father's number plus 1. Using this method, you can multiple by 2 to find parents or divide by 2 to find their child.

I left breaks in the numbers when we don't know an ancestor. Big gaps appear in earlier generations since our ancestors generally double every generation. The list – and these gaps – help me figure out where to search next.

I also added “Immigrant” when I know that person is one of our immigrant ancestors.

Subject Person

1. Henry Clay Spencer (1844-1929)

Henry's Parents

Lyman and Esther were born in Pawling, Dutchess County, New York and moved to Burlington, Bradford County, Pennsylvania after the Civil War. All of their children, except, Clarissa, moved also; Clarissa remained in Dutchess County.

2. Lyman Spencer (1803-1898)
3. Esther Lydia Brownell (1805-1885)

Henry's Grandparents

4. Enoch Spencer (1779-1869)
5. Lydia Turner (1784-1840)
6. Edward Brownell Jr (1782-1836)
7. Elizabeth Denton (1787-1821)

Henry's Great-Grandparents

The Spencers came from East Greenwich, Rhode Island in 1760 while the Brownell family came from Little Compton, Rhode Island.

The Dentons lived in Jamaica, New York before moving north to Dutchess County.

The Turners lived in the region for several generations, after helping to found White Plains. They probably came from Connecticut before that.

8. Theophilus Spencer (1732-1793)
9. Elizabeth Mattson (abt.1734/35-before 1810)
10. Stephen Turner Sr (1761-1848)
11. Amy Bennett (1763-?)
12. Edward Brownell Sr (1739-1831)
13. Elizabeth Brownell? (1751-1834)
14. Solomon Denton (1754-1828)
15. Clarissa Fowler

Henry's Great-Great-Grandparents

All of these people lived in Rhode Island except the Dentons.

16. Michael Spencer (1709-1758)
17. Zilpha Closson (1710-abt.1738)
18. Joseph Mattson (1705-1758)
19. Martha Greene (1712-1746)
20. John Turner Jr (probably)

28. Solomon Denton (1722-1816)
29. Lydia Husted (probably)

Henry's 3x Great-Grandparents

- 32. Robert Spencer (1674-1748)
- 33. Theodosia Whaley (1674-1723)
- 34. Caleb Closson (1688-?)
- 35. Anna _____ (1688-1746)
- 36. Thomas Matteson (1672-1739)

- 38. John Greene (1685-1757)
- 39. Mary Allen (1688-1787)
- 40. John Turner Sr (probably, 1707-1772)

There were several generations of Solomon Denton's in a row, making it hard to keep track of them sometimes. Atalanta is a female name of Greek origin, which was popular in the 18th century. The name roughly translates to "equal in weight" making it an interesting choice to name a girl during the 18th century.

- 56. Solomon Denton (1690-1727)
- 57. Atalanta Clay (1702-1748)

Henry's 4x Great-Grandparents

There are several immigrants in this generation but I'm not sure I've identified them all. John Spencer came from Lynn, Massachusetts to Providence, Rhode Island. The Whaleys were in Virginia but his identity is a question.

- 64. John Spencer (1638-1694)
- 65. Susanna Griffin (1642-1719)
- 66. Theophilus Whaley (abt.1616-1720) – Immigrant
- 67. Elizabeth Mills (abt.1645-1715)
- 68. Josiah Closson (1655-1699)
- 69. Mary Williamson (1654-1721)

Joseph Turner might be wrong. I'm working on that with a Turner researcher this summer so I might have an update later.

Frequently Asked Questions

Where did the name come from?

The Spencer name evolved from a job title given to Robert d'Abbetot by Willian, Duke of Normandy and King of England after the conquest in 1066.

The job title was originally le Dispenser, Dispenser or Dispencer and was based on the Latin word for 'dispensing' supplies within the noble household. As time went on, the le was dropped and then the "dis" part of the name fell away too.

It is a job, though, like a steward or maybe even a butler. There was a spencer in most noble households of the time. Robert d'Abbetot was just the most prominent and first to be recorded with the job title.

Why are there so many Spencers?

As the English middle class formed, families with rising income began hiring servants similar to the noble houses. As a result, many non-noble households had a spencer.

Later, after the job title evolved into an inherited family name, the job title changed to something like steward or butler.

Are there other spellings?

Yes. Spelling was mostly phonetic until the late 19th century or early 20th century when the results of universal education began to take hold of the general population.

Many children only went to school until the 8th grade but it was enough to establish a "correct" way to spell (mostly to make the teacher happy).

Other spellings that evolved from le Dispenser include Spenser, Spender, Espencer, Spence, Spens, Spensor, Spense, etc.

Are all Spencers related?

No. Since the name evolved from a job title anyone given that job in any household across England could have adopted the name. Even the spelling variations are not all related.

Are we related to anyone famous?

There is no evidence that we are related to the noble Spencer family in Britain, to Princess Diana or to Winston Spencer-Churchill. I also haven't found any royal connections through the Spencers but it's probably there somewhere. Most Europeans have a royal person in their ancestry somewhere.

We might be related to Platt Rogers Spencer, the man who developed the Spencerian script or penmanship.

It was a way to write cursive letters from about 1840 to 1925. Examples include the Coca-Cola logo and the early Ford logo.

Our ancestry does go back to a yeoman farmer and land-owner in the early 1500s but that's about it for now.

Does this book contain all of our relatives?

No, not really. I focused on the ancestors and descendants of Henry Clay Spencer (1844-1929) and Amanda Jane Dunn (1850-1925) who lived in Burlington Township, Bradford County, Pennsylvania.

Some families are better represented than others because I've been able to find more information about them or they've provided me with information, photos, etc.

Is this done?

No. In genealogy, there is no such thing as "done". Genealogists do run out of records or run into a "brick wall" but there is no "done". There are also records being published all the time so new evidence or new bits of a person's story can be discovered at any time.

Let's consider this the first edition. A new edition will be released as new information becomes available. I'll announce the updates on the Facebook group page.

Facebook group?

Yes. A couple years ago, I created a private Facebook group page called "Descendants of Henry Clay Spencer and Amanda Jane Dunn". The group is open to any descendant of Henry and Amanda so if you're not a member already, search for the name or go to:

https://www.facebook.com/groups/HenryAmandaSpencer

Then answer the questions about how you are related. I don't usually approve anyone that doesn't answer the questions and I don't already know.

Chapter 2.

The English Spencers

Our earliest known Spencer ancestor was born in the early 1500s. He lived in central England and was not poor or peasant class. This could suggest the descendants of younger sons of some noble but that hasn't been found yet.

John Spencer (1505)

Lineage: (unknown)

John Spencer was born sometime between 1500 and 1505 (probably closer to 1505), likely in Bedfordshire, England. Bedfordshire was also called Bedford County. It is located north of London.

He may have been born in South Mills or St. Albans but I'm not certain of that. The records in the 1500s are hard to find and can be confusing. There are some researchers who believe they know John's parents but I haven't seen convincing evidence yet. So, for now, he's our earliest known Spencer.

John was a yeoman farmer, which means he owned the land he farmed. The title of yeoman originated as an English servant in the 14th century (1300s). It was a middle rank in a noble household as the pecking order went. The yeoman was roughly between a page and a squire.

The title evolved to describe relatively wealthy non-noble land-owning people. These men usually had voting rights since they were considered freeholders. They also had to be a registered member of the church.

John Spencer married Anne Merrill sometime before their first known son was born (obviously) but I can't find an actual marriage record (yet). Anne was born about 1509 in Bedfordshire. Her family name was sometimes written as Merryll in records.

She also had a brother Edward who lived in Bedfordshire. We know this from his will.

I'm sure we don't know all of their children but what we know – or think we know – includes:

1. Michael Spencer (1531-after 1599)
2. Gerard Spencer (1543-1577)
3. John Spencer (1555-1560)

Anne would have been about 22 when Michael was born, 34 when Gerard was born, and 49 when John was born. It is possible John was not her child... or he was her last. Women didn't stop until their bodies decided that was enough.

John died on June 9, 1558 and was buried in the local churchyard at St. George's in Edworth. His son John was buried in April 1560 at Edworth; he was only 4 or 5 years old (depending whether his birthday had passed or not).

Anne was buried in June 1560 at Edworth, Bedfordshire. Her will included a gift to the church as written below.

the good hospitality keeper; and she did give to the towneship of Edworth ii of her best bease [beast, a cow] to be lett to ii pore folks in the towns for iii s. a cow & the parson & churchwarden to have the letting of them & the distributing of the money to the poor & to se[e] the stock maintained etch of them to have iii d. of the vi s. for the panes to se[e] this truly done acording to her last will.

Basically, Anne was called a “good hospitality keeper” because she was hospitable to visitors. She didn’t run an inn.

She gave her “best bease” – a cow – to the poor of the community, each receiving a share similar to stock in a company. The church warden was responsible for distributing any money raised by selling milk, cheese, butter, etc from the cow.

The church was responsible for the care and feeding of the cow, since care of the poor was the church’s responsibility so this was a natural bequest.

John died in April 1560 and his mother died in June. I can’t find an epidemic in the area because records didn’t really trace outbreaks of common diseases. Illness in spring and summer were generally expected. Smallpox, dysentery (also called “summer’s complaint”), and other diseases were just a normal part of the year.

Many of the really old graves don't have headstones or the stones have long since deteriorated. Because of that, we don't really know where John and Anne were buried in the churchyard.

By the way, a cemetery right next to a church is usually called a “churchyard” while a cemetery that isn’t near the church is just called a “cemetery”. I know, it’s an odd bit of trivia but it helps researchers since, sometimes, an old church will have both.

St. George is on private property these days and is usually locked. The key is with the property owner. The Churches Conservation Trust is responsible for the actual building maintenance. If you ever want to visit the church, you need to make arrangements ahead of time with the property owner.

There is a plaque in the church to John and Anne but it was placed in the 1980s by another descendant.

As a result, the plaque really isn't 'evidence' of their lives; just a memorial from another descendant.

Michael Spencer (1531)

Lineage: John (1505)

Michael Spencer was born May 27, 1531 in or near the village of Edworth, Bedfordshire, England to John Spencer and Anne Merrill. He appears to be their oldest child but since he didn't remain in Edworth it's likely he was the second son.

Michael married Agnes Limer (or Lymer) but doesn't appear to have had any children with her. I suspect she died, possibly in childbirth, since divorce was relatively uncommon even if the king did it.

Michael later married Elizabeth Collamore (1540-1599) and they had one child that we know about:

1. Gerard/Jarred Spencer (1576-1646)

Other children might include Joan Spencer, Alice Spencer, Michael Spencer, Thomas Spencer, Anthony Spencer, Richard Spencer, and Agnes Spencer. It's likely that this was Elizabeth's 2nd marriage so her other children might have included Pricilla Harris and Richard Harris.

Michael moved from Edworth to Stotfold, a nearby town before Gerard was born. Stotfold is about an hour and 15-minute walk from Edworth so this was a relatively easy move.

Elizabeth died on November 18, 1599 and is probably buried at St. Mary's cemetery in Stotfold. Michael died after his wife but we don't know the date or year so we usually just say "after 1599".

St. Mary's is located in Stotfold and is an active Anglican church that's open to the public.

Elizabeth might have been the daughter of John Collamore and Margery Hext.

Gerard Spencer (1576)

Lineage: Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

While “Gerard”, “Jared” and “Jarred” are alternate spellings for the same name, I usually write his name as Gerard Spencer. It was probably pronounced “GER-rard” regardless of spelling (emphasis on the first part).

Gerard was born May 20, 1576 in Stotfold to Michael Spencer (1531-aft.1599) and Elizabeth Collamore (1540-1599). He lived his whole life in Stotfold from what I can tell.

Gerard married Alice Whitbread on November 10, 1600 in Upper Gravenhurst, Bedfordshire. She was born October 7, 1571 in Upper Gravenhurst to John Whitbread (1548-1589) and Eleanor _____ (1550-1628).

They had the following children that we know about:

1. William Spencer (1601-1646)
2. Elizabeth Spencer (1602-?)
3. Michael Spencer (1611-1653)
4. Gerard/Jared Spencer (1614-1685)
5. Thomas Spencer (dates unknown)

There's a big gap between Elizabeth and Michael, which might be where Thomas was born or might have included other children.

We know about these children because they all immigrated to New England in the 1630s as part of the Puritan Migration.

It's likely that Gerard and Alice were ‘puritan’ in their beliefs, raising their children in that environment. They, however, chose to remain in England when their children crossed to the New World.

Alice died in 1629, which might have triggered her children to join the migration. Gerard died in May 1646 at the age of 70.

Puritans versus Pilgrims

Our Spencers would be called “puritans” today. The name “pilgrims” describes about 100 families that first fled England for the Netherlands and, later, migrated to North America.

Something to remember is that pilgrims were fundamentalist puritans but puritans were not pilgrims. In fact, the pilgrims called themselves “saints”.

What was the difference?

Pilgrims generally arrived in what became New England aboard the Mayflower in November 1620. In the fall of 1621, the Fortune arrived with those who couldn't fit aboard Mayflower the previous year. The ships Anne and Little James followed in 1623. Anne was mostly passengers while Little James, being smaller, was mostly cargo.

There were non-pilgrims among those that migrated during the early 1620s. Some found it too hard and returned to England.

The great migration really started in 1629 when more educated and affluent puritans began leaving England. Why did they leave?

King Charles I was from the Scottish House of Stuart and he married a Catholic from France. He firmly believed in the divine right of kings to rule as they wished and argued with Parliament regularly. He became king in 1625 and by 1629, many puritans had enough. So, many left England.

The first immigrants – the pilgrims – were fundamentalists who tolerated no deviation from their view of worship. Those who followed in the 1630s and 1640s were slightly more tolerant. They were, for example, less likely to kill Quakers for being Quakers. Or Baptists.

And that's how Rhode Island was established. That is, people thrown out of Massachusetts or who had enough of their intolerance.

Chapter 3.

The Colonial Spencers

At first, the immigrants would be as English as their ancestors but the colonies changed over the decades so they were less “English” but they still would have considered themselves to be as English as any in the home country.

The colonial period generally began with the Jamestown, Virginia colony in 1607 and ended with the successful revolution in 1783. The New England colonies got their start in 1620 but really took off in the 1630s.

It could take 2 to 4 months to cross the Atlantic Ocean in the 1600s, depending on the ship and the weather. The Mayflower, for example, left Plymouth, England on September 6, 1620 after many delays (almost a month of delays due to the Speedwell) and a false start. 66 days later the ship arrived in Cape Cod instead of the Hudson River as planned.

Resupply could take almost a year, as long as a war didn't interrupt the return voyage to the colony. That could be a long time without support from an established community.

Interestingly, one of their biggest fears during that first winter was running out of beer since they were not prepared to brew their own.

The Great Puritan Migration occurred during the 1630s as Parliament and King Charles I began drifting apart. Parliament got stronger and bolder, leading to the English Civil War in the 1640s. That war slowed immigration but didn't cut it off entirely.

The painting below was created by William F. Halsall. It is called "Arrival of the Winthrop's Ships in Boston Harbor". It was created much later than the 1630s, of course, so it's not an eyewitness to history.

Anyone born before the American Revolutionary War (1775-1783) can be found in this chapter while anyone born during or after the war will be found in the next chapter about the American Spencers.

Michael Spencer (1611)

Lineage: Gerard (1576) ► Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

Michael Spencer was born May 5, 1611 in Stotfold, Bedfordshire. His parents were Gerard Spencer (1576-1646) and Alice Whitbread (1571-1629). Michael and several siblings immigrated to New England in the early 1600s. I don't think they all arrived on the same ship but that's mostly a guess at this point.

He arrived in Massachusetts between 1630 and 1634 and settled in modern-day Cambridge (then called the New Towne). Cambridge was much larger in those days than it is today so we don't really know where he settled.

Michael married Isabel _____ (1615-1674), possibly West, about 1635 and moved to Lynn, Massachusetts to raise a family.

They had the following known children:

1. John Spencer (1638-1684)
2. Susannah Spencer (1643-1724)
3. Michael Spencer (1648-1723)
4. William Spencer (1652-1713)

He was identified as a “freeman” in March of 1638, allowing him to vote in local elections. A “freeman” was not a slave or indentured servant, was a full member of the local municipality, was a member of the church, and was considered to be of good character.

A “freeman” was not considered “common” and he could own land. Freeman also participated in the local government, usually in annual or semi-annual meetings where laws were proposed and passed, and judgement in civil or criminal matters were made.

Michael died in November 1653 at Lynn, Essex County, Massachusetts. His will was probated at nearby Salem.

His estate was handled by his brother Jared/Gerard. That is, on November 29, 1653 his brother was confirmed as the administrator of his estate.

Michael's home and possessions were ordered sold "for the bringing up of Michael's children." On November 30, 1654, Thomas Robbins of Salem had some of Michael's estate to help bring up "Michael Spencer age 6."

After Michael's death, Isabel married Thomas Robbins (abt.1618-?). Isabel had moved from Lynn to Salem and bought a house there. At some point, she had to sell the house to support her children.

On March 31, 1657, Thomas Robbins was bound by the local court to bring his wife, Isabel, to answer charges of hiding stolen goods that her son – probably Michael (1648-1723) – took. She was fined and order to pay Robert Lord for the stolen goods.

Isabel died on October 9, 1674 at Salem, Massachusetts.

The son Michael moved to Est Greenwich, Rhode Island where his brother John had settled.

John Spencer (1638)

Lineage: Michael (1611) ► Gerard (1576) ► Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

John Spencer was born about 1638 in Lynn, Massachusetts to Michael Spencer (1611-1653) and Isabel ____ (1615-1674).

He married Susannah Griffin in 1665 at Newport, Rhode Island. His presence in Rhode Island suggests he decided to follow new ideas being preached by some minister rather than follow the strict puritan teachings in Massachusetts. Both Rhode Island and Connecticut were formed by religious dissenters.

Susannah was born about 1642 to Robert Griffin (1613-1684) and Hanna ____ (1620-1670).

They had the following known children:

1. John Spencer (1666-1743)
2. Michael Spencer (1668-1748)
3. Benjamin Spencer (1670-1723)
4. William Spencer (1672-1748)
5. Robert Spencer (1674-1748)
6. Abner Spencer (1676-1759)
7. Thomas Spencer (1679-1752)
8. Susannah Spencer (1681-1681)
9. Peleg Spencer (1683-1763)

A house of boys! Susanna must have been busy.

John died August 31, 1684 at East Greenwich, Rhode Island.
Susannah died April 12, 1719, also in East Greenwich.

Robert Spencer (1672)

Lineage: John (1638) ► Michael (1611) ► Gerard (1576) ►
Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

Robert Spencer was born November 6, 1674 in East Greenwich, Rhode Island to John Spencer (abt.1638-1684) and Susannah Griffin (abt.1642-1719).

He married Theodosia Whaley on July 15, 1697 in East Greenwich. Theodosia was also born in 1674 to Theophilus Whaley (abt.1616-1720) and Elizabeth Mills (abt.1745-1715).

Theophilus Whaley is a puzzling character.

Some think he was Lieutenant Robert Whaley who commanded a company at King Charles I's execution in 1649. If true, his brother was the judge Edward Whaley and they were cousins to Oliver Cromwell.

Again, this is guesswork; not fact.

Theophilus appears in Virginia with no records before that appearance (so far). He married there and moved to Rhode Island about 1679. The speculation about his origin only started about 30 years after his death so it may never be known.

We know of 2 children though there were certainly more:

1. Susannah Spencer (1698-?) married a Sweet
2. Michael Spencer (1709-1758)

Robert served as a captain in the Rhode Island militia. Most young men were required to participate in training on the community green though it wasn't always taken seriously.

Theodosia died before 1723 and Robert followed in 1748.

Michael Spencer (1709)

Lineage: Robert (1674) ► John (1638) ► Michael (1611) ►
Gerard (1576) ► Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

Michael Spencer was born December 27, 1709 in East Greenwich, Rhode Island to Robert Spencer (1674-1748) and Theodosia Whaley (1674-bef.1723).

He married Zilpha Closson in 1731. Zilpha was born in 1710 at Freetown, Massachusetts to Caleb Closson (1688-?) and Anna _____ (1688-1746). They had 1 son:

1. Theophilus Spencer (1732-1793)

Theophilus is an honorary title given to the person who the gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles mentions. It generally means “friend of God”.

The actual person’s identity is not known but this name, along with many other Biblical names, became very popular during the 18th century.

Zilpha died about 1637 or 1638 without any other children. We don’t know if she died in childbirth or due to some disease.

Michael then married Zilpha’s sister, Abigail Closson in 1738. This was a fairly common situation with a widower marrying a sister of his wife. (It worked the other way around too.)

Abigail was born March 28, 1717 in Freetown.

Michael and Abigail went on to have:

2. Robert Spencer (1740-1820)
3. Nathaniel Spencer (1742-?)
4. Michael Spencer (1744-?)
5. Nathan Spencer (1746-?)
6. Joanna Spencer (1747-?)
7. Caleb Spencer (1750-1806)
8. Samuel Spencer (1752-?)
9. James Spencer (1754-?)
10. Theodosia Spencer (1755-?)
11. Lydia Spencer (1756-?)
12. Mary Spencer (1758-?)
13. Sarah Spencer (1758-?)

Robert joined the Loyalists during the American Revolutionary War (1775-1783) and moved to Ontario, Canada after the war.

Both Michael and Abigail died in 1758. A measles epidemic spread around the colonies that year, possibly why they both died. It's unclear who took care of the younger children after their parents died but Theophilus was 26 but they didn't appear in his household.

Robert was just 18 in 1758 so he might have taken them in or some neighbor or cousin might have. I haven't looked into this situation yet.

Theophilus Spencer (1732)

Lineage: Michael (1709) ► Robert (1674) ► John (1638) ►
Michael (1611) ► Gerard (1576) ► Michael (1531) ►
John (1505)

Theophilus Spencer was born in 1732 in East Greenwich, Rhode Island. His parents were Michael Spencer (1709-1758) and Zilpha Closson (1710-1737/38). He was raised by his aunt Abigail who married his father after his mother's death.

On November 11, 1757 Theophilus married Elizabeth Matteson at the Six Principle Baptist Church (aka Stony Lane Baptist Church) in North Kingstown, Rhode Island. Elder Samuel Albro officiated. As we can see, generations shifting away from the puritan beliefs as other denominations grew in popularity.

Elizabeth Matteson was a challenge to find. Many researchers thought she was the daughter of Abraham Matteson (1719-1776) and Freelove Philips (1725-1776). That Elizabeth, however, was born in 1744 and would have been 13 years old in 1757. The 'lure' of that Elizabeth is that her maternal line leads back to a passenger on the Mayflower.

The marriage record, however, provides little clues to her real identity.

After doing the math and being creeped out by a 25-year-old marrying a 13-year-old I researched other Elizabeth Mattesons alive at the time.

The best candidate is the daughter of Joseph Matteson (1705-1758) and Martha Greene (1712-1746). This would make the two Elizabeths 2nd cousins but this Elizabeth was born in 1734 or 1735. That makes her 21 or 22 when she married. That makes much more sense. Otherwise, I would have expected to find a note in the marriage record or in the colonial legislature (for permission of a minor to marry).

Contrary to popular belief, most women in the 18th century married between the ages of 22 and 26. Men usually married between 23 to 28 years old. There were certainly exceptions but these are the averages.

After the deaths of his father and step-mother, Theophilus and Elizabeth moved from East Greenwich, Rhode Island to Pawling, Dutchess County, New York.

Of course, the map below is using modern roads to 'walk' the distance but many modern roads follow older, dirt roads and native trails so this is probably not too far off from their journey.

Elizabeth and Theophilus had a big family, including:

1. Rodman Spencer (1759-1811)
2. Michael Spencer (1761-?)
3. Zilpha Spencer (1777-?)
4. Enoch Spencer (1779-1869)
5. Mary Ann Spencer (1788-?)
6. Martha Spencer (dates unknown)
7. Eunice Spencer (dates unknown)
8. Elizabeth Spencer (dates unknown)
9. Abigail Spencer (dates unknown)
10. Theophilus Spencer (dates unknown)

Rodman was born in Connecticut while they were moving to New York. All of the other children were born in Pawling.

Theophilus died in 1793 and is probably buried on the family farm. Elizabeth was living with her son Enoch in 1800 (per census) but she was not found in 1810, suggesting she died sometime between those dates.

Chapter 4.

The American Spencers

Theophilus was generally too old to participate in the Revolutionary War and Enoch was too young.

As mentioned in the last chapter, Enoch's brother Rodman joined the Loyalists. It's unclear if Enoch's brother Michael served since I haven't found where he died (yet).

By the way, the flag above was the first official flag used by the Continental Congress. It was modeled after the flag of the British East India Company. A year later (1777), the flag was replaced with the more familiar "stars and stripes".

The 6-pointed stars were later replaced with 5-pointed stars in 1795.

John (1638) ► Michael (1611) ► Gerard (1576) ►

Enoch Spencer was born June 8, 1779 in Pawling, Dutchess County, New York. His parents were Theophilus Spencer (1732-1793) and Elizabeth Matteson (abt.1734/35-aft.1800).

Enoch married Lydia Turner, daughter of Stephen Turner, Sr. (1761-abt.1840) and Amy Bennett (1763-?). The Spencers and Turners had neighboring farms. In fact, many of both families are buried in a small family cemetery on Holmes Road in Pawling. The cemetery gives us a general idea where the farms were.

Lydia was born November 26, 1784 in Pawling.

They had the following children:

1. Lyman Spencer (1803-1898)
2. Annie/Annis Spencer (1805-?) married _____ Collier or Connor
3. Horace Spencer, Sr. (1811-1882)
4. Belinda Spencer (1813-1856)
5. Bennett Spencer (1815-1891)
6. Abigail Spencer (1818-?) married _____ Sickler
7. Rhoda Spencer (1819-?)
8. Laura A. Spencer (1824-1911)

Both Lyman and Horace moved away from Pawling and both ended up in Bradford County, Pennsylvania. It appears that Bennett remained on the family farm.

Enoch was living with his daughters Anne and Abigail. In 1860, Abby's son Bennett (1848) and daughter Mary (1850) were also living with Enoch. They also had a teacher boarding with the family.

Lydia died about 1840 and Enoch died June 3, 1869, just a few days shy of his 90th birthday. Both are buried in the family cemetery on Holmes Road (about one-quarter mile from South Road on the right; watch out for poison ivy!). Enoch has a headstone but it's unclear if Lydia has one.

You can't see the cemetery or any stones from the road unless you have a spotter with you. The Turner and Spencer farms were in this area but I wasn't able to find the actual farm houses, if they still exist.

Also, if you visit, watch out for poison ivy!

Lyman Spencer (1803)

Lineage: Enoch (1779) ► Theophilus (1732) ► Michael (1709) ►
Robert (1674) ► John (1638) ► Michael (1611) ►
Gerard (1576) ► Michael (1531) ► John (1505)

Lyman Spencer was born January 9, 1803 in Pawling to Enoch Spencer (1779-1869) and Lydia Turner (1784-abt.1840).

He married Esther Lydia Brownell on May 27, 1826 in Pawling. Many weddings were held at the bride's home while others might be in a nearby church.

Esther was born August 12, 1805 in Pawling to Edward I. Brownell, Jr. (1782-1836) and Elizabeth Denton (1787-1821).

They had the following children:

1. James Wright Spencer (1827-1901)
2. Elizabeth Ann Spencer (1829-1901)
3. David Wesley Spencer (1831-1848)
4. Lydia Spencer (1834-1916)
5. John Wordin Spencer (1837- bef.1850)
6. Clarissa Spencer (1840-1887)
7. Henry Clay Spencer (1844-1929)
8. Esther Annis/Annie Spencer (1847-bef.1850)
9. Lyman Harvey Spencer (1849-1935)

I don't know what happened to David, John or Esther.

The handwriting is hard to read and the ink has faded quite a lot but we get a lot of information about the children listed above from this one important page. Thanks to Jane Gerber for photographing and sharing it with us.

James, Elizabeth, and Lydia moved to Burlington Township, Bradford County, Pennsylvania before 1850. Elizabeth married Daniel Denton Selleck (1823-1885) of Pawling and Lydia married Samuel Whitehead (1830-1911) of Connecticut.

James married twice in Bradford County then moved to Michigan where he served as a Republican in the state legislature and, finally, lived with his eldest daughter in Los Gatos, California until his death.

Lyman and Esther moved to Burlington Township about 1867. Their sons Henry and Harvey moved with them. Their daughter Clarissa (1840-1887) married Charles Utter (1834-1932) and remained in Dutchess County.

Lyman bought a farm on the Franklin Road in the southern part of Burlington Township.

The main road is now called Franklin Road or Franklindale Road while the crossroad near Lyman's house is called E Road.

A modern map (Google Maps) identifies where the farms were.

I don't know where or when the idea that the Spencers lived in West Burlington Township got started but they only lived in the southern part of Burlington Township. The 1869 map shows this.

Esther died March 10, 1885 and is buried at Mt. Lake Cemetery in Burlington Township. Lyman died April 17, 1898 and his buried with Esther.

Henry Clay Spencer was born August 4, 1844 in Pawling, Dutchess County, New York. His parents were Lyman Spencer (1803-1898) and Esther Lydia Brownell (1805-1885).

During the American Civil War (1861-1865), our cousin Tom McIntosh said Henry worked in a cannon factory. The only cannon factory near Pawling was the West Point Foundry located in Cold Spring, Putnam County, New York.

There is a preserve/park there now if you want to visit.

The West Point Foundry was established in 1818 and continued to operate until 1911. During the Civil War, they made Parrott “rifles” (rifled cannons) and munitions for the Union. I haven’t found any employment record yet but I am looking.

The 10-pound Parrott Rifles (below) were on every battle field. There were also heavier guns produced by the foundry, such as a 200-pound gun, that were used by “heavy artillery” battalions.

This gun could throw a 9.5-pound shell about 1,850 yards (5,550 feet or about 1 mile).

The heavier version of the Parrot Rifle could throw a 200-pound shell about 2,000 yards (about 6,000 feet or over 1 mile).

In 1867, Henry moved to Burlington Township, Bradford County, Pennsylvania with his brother Harvey and parents. Henry and his father bought land in the southern part of Burlington Township.

On June 23, 1867 Henry married Amanda Jane Dunn, daughter of Nelson Dunn (1822-1904) and Julia Ann Jennings (1829-1918). The Dunn family lived near the Spencer's new farm on the Franklin Road in Burlington Township.

Henry and Amanda had the following children:

1. Nelson Dunn Spencer (1868-1953)
2. Augusta Spencer (1869-1876)
3. Lyman Spencer (1872-1969)
4. Joseph Milan "Milan" Spencer (1873-1952)
5. Henry Homer "Homer" Spencer (1875-1964)
6. Bayard Emanuel Spencer (1878-1959)
7. Nellie Spencer (1880-1978)
8. Elsie Esther "Bessie" Spencer (1883-1942)
9. Thomas Delano Spencer (1885-1947)
10. Edward Augustus Spencer (1888-1983)
11. George Maxwell Spencer (1890-1964)

Henry also helped build the Methodist Episcopal Church in Burlington Township (near Mt. Lake Cemetery).

Amanda died October 4, 1925 in Towanda. She was living with her daughter Nellie at the time.

Henry died January 15, 1929 in Towanda. He had also been living with his daughter Nellie.

There is some confusion about when Henry died since his grave stone says he died in 1928.

His grave stone is wrong. Whoever cut the stone got the wrong information or just made a mistake. Henry died in 1929 according to the doctor who signed his death certificate.

You might notice that neither Nellie nor Bessie received land. I need to find Nelson's will to find out what they received, but it was likely to be household goods such as dishes or linens, plus cash.

One last note. The "Esq" following Nelson's name was used to indicate an esteemed member of the community. Today, it's generally reserved for lawyers or other 'professional' or 'licensed' individual but, in those days, it had a less restrictive meaning.

Chapter 5.

Henry's & Amanda's Descendants

These are the children and grandchildren of Henry Clay Spencer (1844-1929) and Amanda Jane Dunn (1850-1925). All of the children were born in Burlington Township, most likely on their farm in the "Fairview" area of the township. Their farm was located on the Franklin Road near E Road in the southern part of Burlington Township.

Yes, I know this isn't a great photo but I can't find the original. If you know where a good copy is, please let me know.

Nelson Dunn Spencer

Nelson Dunn Spencer was born August 4, 1868 on his father's 24th birthday. He lived most of his adult life in Franklindale and Monroeton.

Nelson first married Mamie Lantz, who was born October 13, 1872 to George W. Lantz (1833-?) and Margaret R. Annabel (1843-?), on September 14, 1893 in Waverly, Tioga County, New York.

They had 3 children:

1. Theron Ezra Spencer (1894-1963)
2. Daniel Lantz Spencer (1897-1961)
3. Clyde Rodney Spencer (1900-1930) was born April 23, 1900. He died in a hunting accident on December 2, 1930 in Burlington.

Mamie died on January 13, 1905 at their home in Burlington Township.

Nelson then married Mamie's sister Jennie Lantz on March 24, 1906 in Towanda. Jennie was born in August 1868. They had:

4. (stillborn girl)

Jennie died July 22, 1908 in Franklin Township (or Franklindale). She had been married to a Goss before marrying Nelson and had a daughter, Helen Goss (1890-?), from her first marriage.

Nelson later married Margaret Seward on April 7, 1920 in Tarrytown, Westchester County, New York. Margaret was born in 1878 in in Northern Ireland, and died in 1971. Her father was from Scotland and her mother from England. She married Fred Rockwell after Nelson died. Nelson and Margaret did not have any children.

Nelson died February 26, 1953 at his home in Monroeton where he had lived for about 10 years. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Monroeton and an Odd Fellows of West Franklin. He was buried in Franklindale Cemetery.

Theron Ezra Spencer (1894-1963)

Theron was born September 11, 1894 in Burlington. He married Mildred J. Strait on May 20, 1920 in Addison, Steuben County, New York.

Mildred was born November 19, 1895 in Wadena, Minnesota to Walter Strait (1861-?) and Gertrude Merring (1868-?). She was a teacher.

They had the following children:

1. Bernard Wesley Spencer was born January 7, 1922 in Penn Yan, Yates County, New York. He died May 10, 2010 in California.
2. Barbara Gertrude Spencer was born October 1, 1923 in Addison, Steuben County, New York. She married Roger Franklin Warden on July 6, 1946 in Geneva, Ontario County, New York.

Theron later married Stella Mary Olewine. Stella was born January 5, 1893 at Slatington, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania. Theron and Stella had:

3. Elizabeth Mary Spencer was born September 26, 1931. She married Edgar Kenneth Rowland (1919-1996) and had 2 daughters. Elizabeth died February 16, 2018. Kenneth was born October 27, 1919 and died January 11, 1996.

Theron died September 24, 1963 in Newtown Square, Delaware County, Pennsylvania. Stella died January 7, 1985.

Daniel Lantz Spencer (1897-1961)

Daniel was born January 31, 1897 in Burlington. He married Pearl B. Baker on September 26, 1925 in Dushore, Sullivan County, Pennsylvania. Pearl was born July 25, 1896.

They had:

1. Phyllis Naomi Spencer was born June 24, 1929 in Allentown, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania. She married Claude Altieri of South Waverly on November 24, 1964 in Towanda. They met while she was a nurse at Robert Packer Hospital in Sayre. Phyllis died May 14, 2010.

Claude was born October 16, 1926 in the province of Benevento, Campania, Italy. He died March 23, 1997 and they are both buried in Athens. They had 2 boys and 1 girl.

2. Gerald Nelson Spencer was born May 9, 1955 and died September 22, 1956 in Pensacola, Florida of polio while serving with the United States Navy.

Daniel died July 15, 1961 in South Waverly. Pearl died March 29, 2000. They are buried at Towanda.

Augusta Spencer

Augusta “Gusty” Spencer was born November 13, 1869 in Burlington Township to Henry Clay Spencer (1844-1929) and Amanda Jane Dunn (1850-1925).

Augusta contracted scarlet fever and died on March 13, 1876 at the age of 6 years old. She is buried at Mt. Lake Cemetery in Burlington Township with her parents. The entire family suffered from the disease at the same time.

An interesting note about this photo is that she is probably being held by her mother. Mothers would often hide under a blanket to hold their children during a photo session. Her mother could be talking to Augusta to help keep her still and focused on the photographer. That could be why her arms are folded as they are.

She was considered a child prodigy according to her brother Lyman (1872-1969). Tom McIntosh reported – based on an interview with Lyman – that “she could stand before a group and deliver a sermon amazing for one so young.”

Lyman Spencer

Lyman Spencer was born February 14, 1872.

He taught school in South Burlington (the southern part of Burlington Township) with 14 students starting September 3, 1894 according to the Bradford Star newspaper (page 4, column 1).

By December 1894 he was teaching in Monroe Township, Wright Spencer had replaced Lyman in South Burlington.

In May of 1896, both Lyman and Wright Spencer were attending the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute (SCI) in Towanda. It looks like Lyman taught school for about 5 years.

By 1900, Lyman was living with his maternal grandparents, Nelson Dunn (1822-1904) and Julia Ann Jennings (1829-1918) in Burlington Township. He was 28 and, apparently, helping his 78-year-old grandfather on the farm.

Lyman and his brother Edward were living on a farm next to their parents in 1910. Possibly Nelson Dunn's farm?

Lyman married Elinor Sarah Dinsmore on June 24, 1916 at Springville, Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania. Elinor was the daughter of Charles W. Dinsmore (1864-?) and Ella Augusta Baker (1851-?). It appears Elinor was born in Indiana.

Elinor was also a school teacher from Buffalo, New York for 10 years. So, they had a shared interest in teaching and education.

They had the following children:

1. Mary Spencer (1917-1917)
2. Julia Ann Spencer (1918-1981) married Randall Thomas McIntosh (1911-1997)
 1. Thomas Randall McIntosh (1939-2015)
 2. James L. McIntosh
 3. Richard C. McIntosh
3. Lincoln Dinsmore Spencer (1920-2011) married Marie Evelyn Williams (1926) 1st and Stella Lantz 2nd; no children from 2nd marriage
 1. Jane M. Spencer (1946) married Larry Gerber (1944); they had 3 girls.
 2. Nancy Lynn Spencer (1949) married Randy Sergeant; they had 1 boy and 1 girl.
 3. John Lyman Spencer

4. Selden James Spencer (1923-2020) married Mary Jean Mumford (1921-2018) on May 19, 1951
 1. James Theodore Spencer, MD (1954)
 2. Paul Selden Spencer (1957)
5. Patricia Jane Spencer (1925-2004) married Harold Ernest Selleck (1919-2003) on September 15, 1946
 1. Wayne Harold Selleck (1948-1971)
 2. Timothy Lee Selleck (1950)
 3. David Arthur Selleck (1954)

Lyman and Elinor were living on farm on the “Franklin Dale Road” in 1920 along with her mother and daughter Julia. (The 1920 census was collected in January so Lincoln was not born yet.)

Lyman read The Daily Review newspaper from Towanda and The Reader's Digest into his 95th year, according to Tom McIntosh. He voted in every election from 1892 to 1966 as a Republican. Lyman also held various offices in Burlington Township including school director, auditor, and road supervisor.

Lyman died December 22, 1969 in Troy and Elinor died January 24, 1971 in Burlington Township. Both are buried in the Mt. Lake Cemetery.

I swear there's a gangster movie or maybe a political thriller being filmed based on their poses (okay, that was a joke but this is a great pic).

Julia Ann Spencer (1918-1981)

Julia was born April 25, 1918 in Burlington. She married Randall Thomas McIntosh, who was born August 21, 1911. They had 3 sons:

1. Thomas Randall McIntosh was born September 18, 1939 in Blossburg, Tioga County, Pennsylvania. He married Flora “Becky” Jackson (no children). Tom died in a house fire on January 23, 2015 in Rocky Mount, Nash County, North Carolina.
2. James L. McIntosh
3. Richard C. McIntosh

Tom wrote and shared the Spencer family history for the annual reunion of the Descendants of Henry Clay Spencer and Amanda Jane Dunn for several decades. His booklet helped me get started.

Julia died January 15, 1981 in Covington, Tioga County, Pennsylvania. Randall died December 14, 1997, also in Covington.

Lincoln Dinsmore Spencer (1920-2011)

Lincoln Spencer was born June 3, 1920 in Burlington. He married Marie Evelyn Williams, who was born March 16, 1926 in Ithaca, Tompkins County, New York to Arthur Williams (1893-1962) and Frances Steward (1897-1958).

Lincoln and Marie had 3 children:

1. Jane Marie Spencer (18 May 1946) married Larry M. Gerber (18 Aug 1944) on August 20, 1966. They had 3 daughters.
2. Nancy Lynn Spencer (22 Mar 1949) married William Randall "Randy" Sergeant (25 Dec 1951) August 5, 1972 in Fairport, New York. They have a son and daughter.
3. John Lyman Spencer

Lincoln later married Stella Lantz but they did not have any more children. He died October 2, 2011 at the Bradford County Manor in West Burlington and is buried at Mt. Lake Cemetery.

Jean was born February 12, 1921 in Cochranton, Crawford County, Pennsylvania to James Mumford (1887-?) and Goldie _____ (1885-?).

They had:

1. James Theodore Spencer was born January 28, 1954 in Bellefonte, Centre County, Pennsylvania.
2. Paul Selden Spencer was born January 23, 1957 in Philipsburg, Centre County, Pennsylvania.

Homer first married Minnie Augusta Mingos November 10, 1897 at the bride's home in Burlington Township. Minnie was born December 22, 1879 in Liberty Corners to David S. Mingos (1835-1907) and Martha "Polly" Benjamin (1838-1920).

Homer and Minnie had the following children and grandchildren:

1. Jay Ralph Spencer (1898-1982)
2. Ethel Mae Spencer (1899-1964)

5. Ida Belle Spencer (1908-1926)

Homer and his cousin Fred Whitehead, son of Lydia Spencer (1834-1916) and Samuel Whitehead (1830-1911), took a trip to visit cousins in Pawling. They started their journey about December 20, 1894 by train to Philadelphia. Then they went to New York City and north to Pawling.

In April 1896, Homer and his fiancé Minnie traveled to Van Etten, New York to visit John Mingos, a relative of hers.

Homer worked farming or day labor jobs ("odd jobs") most of his life. Sometime after 1910 Homer and Minnie divorced. By 1920, he was working as a machinist in a mill in Elmira, Chemung County, New York and living with his daughter Ethel.

He briefly married Mildred Katys but they divorced also. Minnie later married Frank Doty and they lived in Hornell, New York.

Minnie died May 25, 1952 in Endicott, Broome County, New York where her daughter Ethel was living at the time. Frank Doty had died in 1944 so it's likely that Minnie was living full-time with Ethel.

Homer died July 26, 1964 in Endicott, 2 weeks after his daughter Ethel died in a car accident near Nichols, New York.

Homer, Minnie, Raymond, Ida Belle, and (probably) the stillborn daughter are buried in Monroeton Cemetery. Frank Doty is also buried there.

Photos

This photo is a composite created from two separate photos, probably in the 1920s or 1930s given their clothes. Homer and Minnie were clearly divorced by this time. The direction they are each looking is a clue that this is a composite made from two different photos. This was a popular process in the early 20th century.

Ethel probably had this made though it hung above the mantel in Jay's house at 30 Watts Street in Towanda for many years (probably after Ethel's death in 1964).

Chapter 6.

DNA

DNA testing has become a popular entertainment and genealogy tool in the past 10 to 15 years. The ethnic estimates are interesting – entertaining – but it is still considered “recreational science” at this point.

The DNA matches, however, have uncovered many secrets – real secrets or ‘open’ secrets – from the past.

If you decide to test...

If you decide to test there are several companies conducting testing. These companies examine the autosomal DNA (atDNA; not the X or Y chromosomes) to find patterns within the DNA that look like other people who tested. Your DNA is not compared to people who lived 100 years ago; you are compared to people who self-report all of their recent ancestors came from the same geographic place.

The popular testing companies include:

- Ancestry.com is the largest of the companies with well over 15 million people who have tested around the world.
- 23andme.com is the second largest of these companies with over 13 million people who have tested around the world. They also provide a ‘health’ report with tendencies (not predictions) about certain hereditary conditions.
- FamilyTreeDNA.com (FTDNA) and MyHeritage.com are the next two companies with around 9 to 11 million people tested. FTDNA will also do separate Y-DNA or mitochondrial DNA (mtDNA) tests, which can show ancient migration patterns.
- LivingDNA is also an up-and-coming company.

All of these services allow you to download your DNA as a really large text file that you can upload to other sites. Ancestry and 23andme don't allow you to upload files but the others do.

There are also other sites, such as GEDMatch.com and Promethease.com, that don't test your DNA but will provide additional analysis.

FTDNA and GEDMatch are two sites involved in police searches to help find violent offenders by matching crime scene DNA to DNA found on these sites. The police don't expect to find a criminal on the sites. They are looking for several relatives who can help them identify a possible suspect. The DNA match, however, is not used as evidence in the courtroom, just as a method of helping finding and narrowing down suspects. Plus, you can turn off the ability of law enforcement to match your DNA.

If you are thinking of testing, I would suggest testing on Ancestry and/or 23andme since they don't allow file uploads. Ancestry is less expensive than 23andme. Then, you can upload that file to the other sites.

There are surprises...

I'm not going to spill family secrets in this booklet since I don't know who has been contacted and who hasn't so, I don't want to intrude. I can, however, warn you that – like any family – there are a couple surprises.
